

BVRLA members 2015

Fleet size by vehicle type 2015

3,698,005 (+18%)

Cars

689,508 (+9%)

LCV

90,458 (-1%)

HGV

TOTAL 4,477,971 (+16%)

NOTE:
2014 figures for LCV and HGV adjusted to reflect a reclassification of some HGVs to LCVs by one member (LCV 631,208 & HGV 91,438)

Short-term rental fleet size 2015

Overall, short-term rental fleets reported single-figure percentage growth in 2015, but there was double-digit growth in vans and trucks.

NOTE:
Growth rates are based on readjusted figures for 2014 (LCV 139,235 & HGV 20,479)

Personal leasing fleet size 2015

BVRLA members operated more vehicles on personal leases than ever before, with record growth in car, van and truck numbers.

Corporate leasing fleet size 2015

Corporate car leasing fleets grew by 11%, mirroring the growth trend reported across the sector in 2015.

2015 in numbers

We've crunched the numbers and they show impressive growth in the vehicle rental and leasing sector over the past 12 months. Jamie Fretwell presents the key figures.

Both the BVRLA and the industry it represents had another record year in 2015, according to our latest annual membership and fleet size report.

The association saw a net gain of 74 new members across all sectors last year, with another surge in the Leasing Broker and Rental Broker categories.

The total BVRLA member fleet continued its rise: up 16% to 4.47 million vehicles. Most sectors saw strong growth, with car numbers passing three-and-a-half million for the first time.

The combined member fleet now accounts for one in every nine cars, one in every five vans and one in every five trucks licensed to operate on UK roads.

Once again, a large part of this expansion came from personal leasing, which now accounts for 1.4 million vehicles – a 32% increase on 2014.

Most fleet categories reported steady organic growth, but once again

there were major new additions from captive leasing companies in the personal car and corporate LCV leasing areas. ♦

For further information on the BVRLA's research and statistical services, contact Director of Communications & External Relations Toby Poston.

Contact
Toby Poston
01494 545700
toby@bvrla.co.uk